Foreman Does Not Deny That Police Vice and Graft Were Under Fire.

Three heads of city departments were called before the Extraordinary Grand Jury yesterday. They were Police issioner Enright, Commissioner Grover Whalen of the Department of Plant and Structures and Commissione of Accounts Hirshfield. They are the members of the administration regarded as closest to Mayor Hylan. When they had finished testifying, Raymond F. Almirall, foreman of the jury, was careful not to indorse Mr. Enright's statement that the investigation had nothing to do with graft, vice and gambling in connection with the Police Depart-

Notwithstanding the failure of Mr. Almirall to rule out pelice evils as a ground for his investigation, the inquiry yesterday undoubtedly bore most heavily on the traction situation. Besides Deputy Police Commissioner Lahey, who took command in Brooklyn and "jacked up" the police there after the receivers for the B. R. T. charged that the police through their laxity were aiding the strikers to tie up the property, the heads of a number of private detecthe heads of a number of parts during agencies were before the Grand Jury yesterday. Some of these men had been engaged by the B. R. T. and the Interborough either to protect property or to supply strike breakers.

oner Whalen, formerly secretary of the Mayor, was required to bring to the Grand Jury every scrap of evi-dence in his office with regard to contracts since his appointment between the city and utility enterprises, includ-ing bus lines, and all letters that have passed between him and Mayor Hylan. In this connection the report gained circulation yesterday that the Grand Jury will investigate interests of certain city traction stocks on the exchange at the time of the strikes. was stated after the day's session that Mr. Whalen himself had made a distinct mpression upon the jury for frankness and uprightness in the way he answered questions.
